Argan oil
Sustainably
hand-harvested

Imported from Southwest Morocco

L'argane™ argan oil comes from the nuts of the argan tree – argania spinosa. It is found in only one place in the world, Southwestern Morocco, where it is also called the Tree Of Life, because it helps to make life possible in this semi-arid land by providing shade, food, and wood.

As they have done for centuries, local Berber women hand-harvest the nuts, strip off the husks, and crack them to extract the kernels – in fact, they do all of the processing except the actual pressing. The hand-processing of argan is a time-honored tradition, and part of what makes L'argane so very special.

Today, the argan tree is threatened by overgrazing, unsustainable harvesting, and cutting. To help protect it, UNESCO has declared the Arganeraie Biosphere Reserve a world heritage site.

You can help protect this precious resource by choosing our sustainably hand-harvested L'argane Argan Oil.

For the discriminating buyer

Argan oil is the most precious oil in the world. It has a unique, warm, nutty flavor and unmatched health benefits – rich in unsaturated fats, especially polyunsaturated fats and vitamin E.

L'argane is the finest argan oil available:

- 100% pure extra virgin, cold pressed
- certified organic by Qualité France
- full traceability from tree to bottle
- hand-harvested
- helps protect the endangered argan tree, which has been declared a world heritage by UNESCO

L'argane has a very distinctive, warm, nutty flavor, making it ideal for:

- drizzling on salads and vegetables
- stirring into pasta
- low-heat cooking
- dipping with bread
